

September Back-to-School Webinar Event

For the month of September, CSCC is celebrating the back-to-school season with its own series of online seminars that will help refresh your knowledge on responsible sourcing and foster new understandings of the issues facing sourcing professionals in the rapidly changing global marketplace.

The webinars will feature one hour of valuable content presented by CSCC's roster of experts. Webinar topics have been carefully chosen to appeal to different supply chain players and cover a broad scope of subject matter related to corporate social responsibility (CSR).

China's New Contract Labor Law

In July, China's lawmakers passed a new law governing the terms and conditions under which contract labor could be employed. This webinar covers the essential questions surrounding the impact it will have on the brands and retailers sourcing from the country, as well as on responsible sourcing programs and supplier requirements.
